Tomcat. However when I deploy the application on Websphere, it doesn't work the way it should. When I try to edit a record it will update everything except for "movies" (modeling entity). I see the change in the database, and I see it in the entity view. If you need more code, I can post it. If anyone has any ideas, I would love to hear it, I'm pulling my hair out over this one. EDIT: I did a little more digging. The issue seems to be somewhere in the Postman implementation. I am not seeing any breakpoints in any of the persistence code. Because of this, I have no idea of what is going on, the only thing I have to work with is my logs. 08-05 12:59:18,701 DEBUG [http-nio-127.0.0.1-8080-1] Refreshing context: startup date [Fri Aug 04 15:00:00 EAS 2018]; root of context hierarchy [file:/D:/TEST/WebApp/WEB-INF/classes/java/] 08-05 12:59:18,701 DEBUG [http-nio-127.0.0.1-8080-1] Added hot resource: [/WEB-
