The use of this new technology requires a 60Hz monitor refresh rate. We've also updated FIFA's engine to fully utilize high-performance, multi-core CPUs, including Intel's upcoming Skylake range, AMD's forthcoming next-gen Volcanic Islands and future Intel Kaby Lake architecture CPUs. More information on FIFA 22 has been published on the EA Origin Blog. Capture the excitement of professional football in this all-new FIFA simulation, revealed today as the best-selling game of the year, remains faithful to the standards of previous FIFA experiences while delivering a new level of realism and responsiveness. FIFA 22 introduces the powerful "HyperMotion Technology," which uses motion capture data collected from 22 real-life professional players to power unprecedented in-game player animation and unprecedented responsiveness for each player on the field. The combination of the all-new physics engine and "HyperMotion" brings the player experience to life in a way never seen before in the series. Key game-changing features: Simulation tuned and refined to make some of the most talented players in the world feel even more realistic in a game that's more intuitive to play than ever Significant visual and animation improvements to bring the player experience closer than ever to a real-life sports match Improved off-the-ball AI that anticipates where a player will move next based on previous actions to make gameplay more exciting and challenging World-class training mode experience where each of FIFA's real-life stars are playable and upgradable Closest-to-real-life gameplay with immersion-building tools like true-to-life player models and audio Addition of an authentic officiating experience with the first-ever global officiating system Major gameplay improvements that make FIFA 22 a truly next-gen sport simulation • HyperMotion Technology - FIFA 22 introduces a new, all-new, physics engine and motion capture to enhance every aspect of the game, including improvements to tackling, trajectory, ball movement and the responsiveness of players on the field. • Real Player Motion - Because of the high visual fidelity of the game engine and the new physics engine, FIFA 22 delivers unparalleled player experiences, with more realistic players and collisions. Simulated players match real players on an all-new, 6-degree-of-freedom (DOF) motion capture stage in a fully immersive experience. Players are more responsive and

Features Key:

- Graphically enhanced gameplay for gamers.

The game features a completely refreshed Player Creator, running for the first time in the FUT franchise.

This feature lets you scan your body in motion to create the ideal or any physical appearance you like. Using the same technology as real athletes, this allows you to become Your Ultimate Team.

- New Coaching Engine.

The new Coach Engine makes adjustments to formations, substitutions and tactics based on game conditions and player attributes. You now have more control over formations, and can even personally manage each player's fitness.

The training tools have been improved for the Ultimate Team game mode, and the number of pre-match training drills and fatigue recovery is greater than in any previous FIFA soccer game, so you can feel a real impact in performance during the match.

- New Squad Management System.

Career Mode and Ultimate Team, now have more control over your individual players via the new Squad Management System. Your squad now has visible ratings called Trust Ratings, and the best players will move you the most Trust Points to sell them to another team.

As well as trading players, you can loan players out at any point, with FIFA 22.

Select your transfer targets, have your scouts watch them, and conduct negotiations with your rivals.

You can set up to two loan agreements at once, meaning you can have your best offensive players away from your first team, while they may not want to go.

You can even 'Blackmail' your opponents, offering to sell your best players in exchange for their best ones, destroying their form as an opposition, all at a stroke.

- Contextual Commentary in Sky's New HD and 4K options.

Sky Sports started building our game commentary in 2010, and now you can hear it while you play. With licensed commentary by Mark Chapman, Darron Dreels, Mark Lawrenson, Peter Drury and Drew Spence, as well as Fox Sports who cover Fox Sports football games.

What's new in Fifa 22:

◦ Career Mode

- Now available for PC/MAC and PlayStation 4 with a touch screen on the PlayStation 4 controller, which allows you to swipe shots, passes, and saves in-game. You can also drop-down the menu and make quick defensive saves and powerful, last-second long-range shots. With touch, you can even split goalkeepers in two and choose to swap their posts.
- Manage your own team with deeper game options such as promotion, relegation and the Clapham Cup.
- Experience more immersive player models with clearer facial features than ever before.
- Team trade requests are now associated with the potential to find a deal in-game and in-club
- Matchday menus have been completely overhauled. Watch in-match cutscenes - described as a return to the classic camera angles of past games - or navigate with ease through a smart and intuitive Menus system.
- FIFA 22 brings you deeper, more diverse, and more expressive crowd chants together with improved crowd management, ambiance, animation, and voxel-based crowds. These chants will give your match a truly authentic atmosphere, as you play out some of the most intense moments of the game with players, players and managers in the crowd. New approaches to emotes and animations make shouts even more exciting.
- With deeper dialogue, the game will allow you to raise your voice in all moods. Players' reactions will now vary depending on the situation.
- Dynamic Water Tiles - Surrounding the pitch are dynamic water tiles that will become fully animated when played, giving you a visual clue to the state of the pitch - shallow or rough. Even the shape of the pitch will alter automatically as a result of the physics applied to the water tiles. This will especially influence the feel of game play when playing a real-life match.
